

Important information

Contributed by Yannick KREMPP
Thursday, 14 November 2013
Last Updated Thursday, 14 November 2013

Updated rules and guidelines

The official rules and guidelines for the Cellular Imaging Facility have been recently updated. We invite all users of the facility and the lab heads to download and read them. Main modifications relate to the billing process and responsibilities in case of non-payment, to the authorship rights, and to responsibility of CIF regarding scientific validity of the results produced by users.

The updated rules can be found here in French and in English .

ATLAS file server and data storage

The recent reliability problems encountered with the ATLAS server has highlighted the crucial importance for users of the facility to save their data on their own storage media and to avoid keeping or archiving their images and results there. The CIF does not take responsibility in case of data loss. In any case, according to the CIF rules, the duration of data storage on the ATLAS CIF server is limited to three months, unless otherwise specified.

The CIF Staff